Buyer's Guide

A Guide to consumer items produced or processed in Missouri

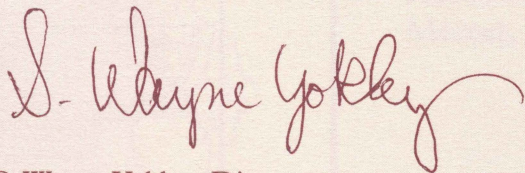

Agriculture is Missouri's leading industry and largest employer. The state is among the country's leaders in agricultural production, growing and processing many high-quality food products.

Initiated in 1985, the AgriMissouri Program identifies Missouri-produced or processed agricultural products. The program has continually grown as more producers and processors realize the benefits of branding their products with the AgriMissouri logo and seal. This ninth AgriMissouri Buyer's Guide contains many of the producers and processors who constantly strive to offer the highest quality product available. All of the products listed in this guide are processed by firms with a strong commitment to Missouri agriculture.

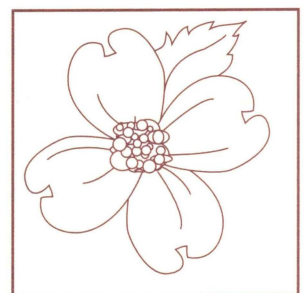

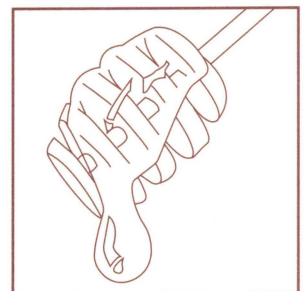

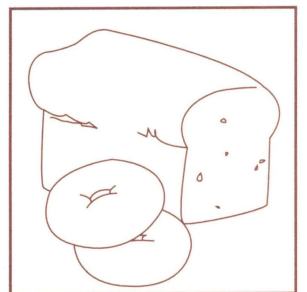

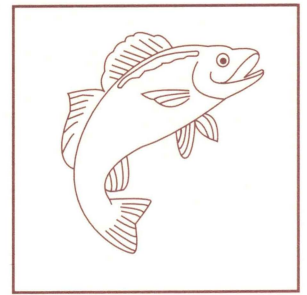

Missouri buyers have proven they will choose Missouri-produced goods when given an opportunity.

Whether you're a food buyer, restaurateur, grocery store owner, dietitian, food processor or producer, become a member of the AgriMissouri Program today. For more information about this innovative program, call us toll-free at 1-888-MO-BRAND, or write:

We have a new format!

The 1999-2000 AgriMissouri Buyer's Guide has been redesigned. Readers have requested that the state be broken into regions to make it easier to locate vendors. Throughout the book you will find maps like those below. We have created nine regions based on county lines. Locate your county below to identify which region you are in, and let your fingers to the shopping!

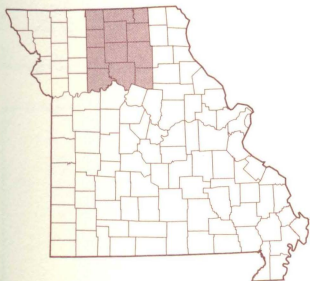

Central Region
